A Tale of Purpose and Progress

Our founder, Michael Aulbach, envisioned a program where those in need of sobriety and stability could thrive in a program that is safe, clean, and promotes responsibility. His belief has always been that everyone deserves a chance to be a contributing member of our community.

Our transitional housing program primarily serves the dual-diagnosed residents and those who are either seeking employment in the community, currently employed, or are enrolled in a job training or educational program.

We Have One Mission: Your Recovery

Since 2010, Project SOAR Recovery Residences has provided transitional supportive housing for men in the South Florida area. Our primary goal is to provide a clean, safe, sober, and responsible environment to recovering alcohol/substance abusers or those who are dually diagnosed with mental health issues, which will, in turn, support recovery.

Project SOAR Recovery Residences is committed to only accepting those individuals who are serious about their recovery. To speak with an Admissions Specialist, please call 954-900-9980 ext 0 – we look forward to speaking with you.
